Thirtieth Sunday in Ordinary Time

"Every high priest is chosen from his fellows and appointed to serve God on their behalf, to offer sacrifices and offerings for sins. Since he himself is weak in many ways, he is able to be gentle with those who are ignorant and make mistakes." Hebrews 5: 1-6

Bartimaeus, a blind beggar, was sitting on the side of the road. When he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to shout: "Son of David, Jesus, have pity on me." ... Then Jesus spoke: "What do you want me to do for you?" "Rabbuni," the blind man said, "Master, let me see again." Mark 10: 46-52

Readers of these Sunday reflections might well have come to understand that the writer of Mark's Gospel was a very good teacher. To get a good appreciation of his expertise in that field, we need do no more than give our attention to Chapters 8-10 of his Gospel from which the gospel-readings of the last six Sundays have been selected. The exceptional skill of his narration and teaching can be seen in the manner in which he has related the story of how the Apostles failed to grasp Jesus' attempts to explain to them that he was a Messiah whose greatness would be borne out through suffering, death and resurrection.

Let's, then, look at how the writer of Mark's Gospel shaped the story he was intent on telling. In recent weeks we have listened to/read three accounts (Mark 8: 31-33, 9: 30-32 and 10:32-34) of Jesus telling his Apostles of the violence that was soon to be visited on him, which would be followed by his resurrection. We have also heard how the Apostles were too dull-witted to grasp the message Jesus had repeatedly tried to give them.

It is vital for us to note that those three predictions Jesus made of the violence that lay ahead of him and his resurrection that would follow are sandwiched by Mark's accounts of Jesus stopping to restore sight to two profoundly blind men (Mark 8: 22-26 and this Sunday's gospel-reading, Mark 10: 46-52). The first of these two cures occurred when a blind man was brought to Jesus by friends, who believed that Jesus could and would reach out to him. The miracle that Jesus worked was done in two stages. Jesus intervened a second time when the man reported that his sight was partially restored. He could make out people, but they looked like trees walking. In response, Jesus placed his hands on the man's eyes a second time. In the context of what follows, this healing that took place in two stages seems to be being used by Mark as an allegory referring to the several efforts Jesus had to make to get his Apostles to "see" and understand that he was a Messiah who was destined to suffer, die and be resurrected.

In the verses immediately before Jesus cured this blind man, we read that he had reprimanded his disciples for their inability to see the significance of his miracle of the multiplication of the loaves. He had told them that their perception was no better than that of the Pharisees and of the pagan governor, Herod. His reprimand was direct and stinging: "Have you no perception? Are your minds closed? Have you eyes that don't see, ears that don't hear?" (Mark 8: 17-18)

In the story of the cure of the second blind man, which rounds off this section of Mark's Gospel, Jesus asked the exact same question as he had put to James and John when they were jockeying for position: "What do you want me to do for you?" The answer from James and John was full of self-interest. In marked contrast, Bartimaeus (whose name means honourable son) asked Jesus to have mercy on him by giving him the gift of sight. Ironically, sight was the very thing that the Apostles lacked. Moreover, Bartimaeus knew who Jesus was, addressing him as "Son of David", the King of Israel whose priority was looking after the poor and needy. In his plea for mercy, Bartimaeus used the Greek word eleeo, the operative word we use at the penitential rite at Mass when we pray "Lord, have mercy" (in Greek Kyrie eleison). The irony, of course, is that Bartimaeus knew who it was to whom he was calling out. The Apostles were still a long way from really knowing who Jesus was and what exactly was his mission. Mark spells out the impact of this blind man's encounter with Jesus in the final words of today's gospel-reading: "... and he followed him (Jesus) along the road (Mark 10: 52).

Jesus had repeatedly tried to explain to his Apostles and disciples that his mission was to usher in the kingdom of God, a way of living that called for living with integrity, treating all people with dignity, knowing that all are sons and daughters of God, created in the image of God to live lives that reflect the love of God planted in the hearts of all. Jesus explained that this "new way" meant living the spirit of the law as opposed to being slaves to the letter of the law. In God's providence, the people of Israel were blessed with a priesthood bestowed first on Aaron who was succeeded by a line of priests who were appointed to the role by a selection process guided by God's Spirit. The essential role or vocation of the priest, including high priest, was and still is to call people to live according to their responsibilities as daughters and sons of God. Priests, too, have a responsibility to live their lives with integrity, simply because they, too, have been created in the image of God to live the way of love. Part of Jesus' mission was that he, too, was invited by God to follow the vocation of priest, as today's second reading from Hebrews explains "according to the order of Melchizedek" – a way of being priest different from the priesthood of Aaron. Jesus understood that as an invitation from God, to whom he had learned to listen intently. That involved calling people to live in line with the new order of the kingdom of God, which was his mission to proclaim and explain. I suspect that Jesus would not have been especially pleased with the comparison made by the author of Hebrews between the traditional Jewish priesthood and the priesthood that God had invited him to live. The role of our priests today is essentially to call us all to live our lives true to the values of the kingdom of God, which Jesus lived and proclaimed. That surely involves letting ourselves be guided by God's Spirit and living lives marked by reflection on the Gospel and ongoing discernment.

As Jesus left Jericho with his disciples and a large crowd, Bartimaeus (that is, the son of Timaeus), a blind beggar, was sitting at the side of the road. When he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to shout and to say, 'Son of David, Jesus, have pity on me.' And many of them scolded him and told him to keep quiet, but he only shouted all the louder, 'Son of David, have pity on me.' Jesus stopped and said, 'Call him here.' So they called the blind man. 'Courage,' they said 'get up; he is calling you.' So throwing off his cloak, he jumped up and went to Jesus. Then Jesus spoke, 'What do you want me to do for you?' 'Rabbuni,' the blind man said to him 'Master, let me see again.' Jesus said to him, 'Go; your faith has saved you.' And immediately his sight returned and he followed him along the road.

DIOCESAN INTERFAITH COMMISSION

From Bishop Vincent

The Diocesan Interfaith Commission, since its establishment in 2021, has enriched the life and mission of the Church in Western Sydney and the Blue Mountains. It has worked in partnership with the Columban Centre for Christian-Muslim Relations, Diocesan agencies and organisations both within and outside the Diocese in building bridges of understanding, inclusion and solidarity. Our Annual Diocesan Iftar Dinner is one of the most well-attended and respected multifaith events in the country.

As this Commission is seeking to renew its membership, we appeal to all clergy, religious and parishioners to consider being a member. The only qualification is the Gospel commitment to love your neighbour, who in this instance belongs to another religion.

If you would like to assist me and your fellow Catholics in growing interfaith relations in Western Sydney, please register your interest on <https://parracatholic.org/contribute/governance/>

Our Diocesan Pastoral Plan has identified interfaith engagement as one of the pathways towards a Synodal Church. It is my fervent hope that the Diocesan Interfaith Commission will strengthen our commitment to foster peace, unity and social cohesion in our community.

This week, you're invited to partner with the Church in Mongolia to help deliver essential services to people who need it most. Lack of access and social stigma mean that some of the most vulnerable people are not getting the support they require.

The House of Mercy will provide a haven for many people, including those affected by homelessness and domestic violence. Without your partnership, people in need will go without the assistance they require.

During World Mission Sunday, we are called to "Invite others to the banquet", and we invite you to share the warmth of God's love with our brothers and sisters who need it most in Mongolia. You can support this work by using the appeal envelope, going online at catholicmission.org.au/mongolia, or scanning the QR code. Your gift will also assist many other Church programs around the world.

CHURCH MAINTENANCE UPDATE

St Patrick's Church – Roof Project Update

On Thursday 3rd October, we submitted an application to spend $600,000 and to borrow $500,000 with the Bishop so as to begin the works relating to the roof of St Patrick's Church. We appreciate your support on this and any further contributions are appreciated.

We are still awaiting the Diocese's response to our application to spend $600K and to borrow $500k so as to begin the works relating to the roof at St Patrick's.

In the light of this application, from this weekend all donations to the parish, using the various TAP'N'GO machines around the Churches will now go to meet the development and maintenance needs of the parish which will of course, include repayments to the Diocese for our loan. As a result, the specific "Raise the Roof" donations are suspended, and the machines will be used for the parish needs.

Also from Monday, owing to the closing of the 3G network to which our QUEST machines are linked, there will be new machines with which you all be familiar as they have recently been used for the "Raise the Roof" Campaign.

To assist our parish needs, can you consider donating regularly online, either via EFT, credit/debit cards or even envelopes. This will help us plan for the future of Mary Queen of the Family Parish.

Thank you for your continued generosity
Fr Wim

PLEASE CONSIDER ONLINE GIVING

You can also support the parish by using our Tap & Go Machine. The machine is set at $10, to donate more than $10 simply tap your credit card as many times as you like. It also accepts Apple Pay, Google Pay and Pay Wave. All contributions go to the maintenance and development of the Parish as does the second collection at weekend Masses.

Planned Giving (Direct Debit or Credit Card) is also an option if you wish to do cashless donation to the parish, forms are available in the foyer and on our parish website or contact the parish office on 9622 1125.

Setting up a one-time or recurring donation/Planned Giving is quick and easy. Just go to: www.mqofblacktown.org.au/donations.

The Lord helps those who have faith

30th Sunday in Ordinary Time, Year B

Bartimaeus was a blind man who begged Jesus to help him. He had faith that Jesus could make him see. Help Bartimaeus find his way to Jesus so that he can be healed.

The Lord helps those who are less fortunate - the poor, the sick and people who are sad. Write or draw about something nice you could do for someone who is poor, sick or sad.

Jesus showed his love for all people by welcoming the poor and the sick. What were some of the wonderful things he did? Circle the correct answers.
